LORRAINE'S PILLS.

OR VEGETABLE UNIVERSAL MEDICINE CURATIVE OF THE French College of Health, in Paris.

THE following letter was received yesterday by mail from Salem. It gives another evidence of the great success of Lorraine's Vegetable Universal Pills.

SIR—I have been for many years a sufferer from the ravages of Scrofula and Cancerous Humors, which at last seated on the vitals, and exhibited all the threatening symptoms of consumption. The general inability of all remedies awakened my enquiries as to the thousand different methods of cure, to most of which I had recourse without receiving benefit. I accidentally noticed a remarkable cure by Lorraine's Pills, and was induced to give them a trial. I sent to Boston and got a box. By the use of them I found immediate relief and was soon restored to a perfect state of health.

J. E. NEWHALL.

Salem, 21st May, 1841.

The following letter from J. B. Light, Esq. is worthy of notice.

SIR—I took one of Lorraine's Vegetable Pills last evening for a pain in my head, that had effected me for several days, occasioned by taking cold. I soon felt very calm, and quiet, and a state of general repose came on, which had great charms, and I enjoyed one of the most comfortable and refreshing nights that I ever did in my life. I rose in the morning in my usual state of health, and believe it is my duty to recommend this medicine.

Yours truly, J. B. LIGHT.

Nov. 20th, 1841.

[From Bangor Daily Mail.]

Somebody wisely says, that a cap loaded with ewels and flowers will not cure the headache, nor gold chains prevent the consumption. Lorraine's Vegetable Pills have done both.

SIR—I have been effectually cured of a severe headache by the use of Lorraine's Pills.

SARAH NOYES.

SIR—My daughter had all the threatening symptoms of a Consumption, such as cough, pain in the side, &c., together with general debility, but has had her health restored by Lorraine's Pills.

Rev. J. KNIGHT.

New York City, Nov. 1, 1841.

Family Medicine.

SIR—Lorraine's Pills in my family as a family medicine, and I would most earnestly recommend them to all persons, as the best medicine that can be procured. I would not be without them—they operate mildly, and never fail to give immediate relief. Until I used these Pills I was obliged to pay from $25 to $100 per year for medicines and physicians, since then I have had no other doctor than Dr. Lorraine's Pills. JAMES NEAL.

Hartford, Conn. July 8.

Lame Back.

Sarah Snow was cured of a lame back in one day, when she had been unable to dress herself alone for two weeks.

Susan Jones of Boston, cured in 36 hours of lame back and side of three weeks standing.

Sick Headache.

Mrs. Bird of Providence says, that 'Lorraine's Pills have proved a real blessing to her. It has surpassed anything that has been brought to the public notice. I have been cured of a sick headache that had afflicted me for years, by the use of Lorraine's Pills.

THE CONDITION.

The condition upon which nature gives health to man, is a watchful care to keep his stomach and bowels free from morbid and unhealthy accumulations. Lorraine's Pills admirably effect this, because they cleanse the bowels and purify the blood.

The human body is always healthy when the bowels are regular, the blood circulates freely, and disease invariably commences when obstructions take place in the bowels.

The extraordinary virtues of Lorraine's Pills depends upon extracts of over 50 different vegetables, all so admirably combined as to purify, nourish and invigorate the human system.

MISCELLANEOUS.

Valuable Suggestions.

We clip the following important and truthful picture from an article in a late number of the Yankee Blade. Young men and women should ponder upon the thoughts here presented. To them the door is wide open if they will but engage in the delightful task of walking in its pleasant paths. Every new fact ascertained is so much learning added to their store—every use of that fact is the exercise of knowledge—The more useful the fact, the better the learning.

Without the light of education, the dark pall of ignorance hangs over the mind, and leaves the soul in chaos, without form and void.

But let the light of knowledge dispel the gloom of ignorance, and the soul comes forth like a new made world, increasing in luxuriance and joy, as the warmth and heat of the sun of knowledge gain in power.

The Blade says:

"That man only is truly learned, whose well ordered mind, stored with a knowledge of the past, is yet prepared to gather in and shelter the bright gems of literature and science which chance may fling around him, who is continually nourishing it with food, dug laboriously from the bowels of the earth, gathered from the deep grouttes and coral isles of the ocean, and brought down from the stars and the courts of Heaven; and who can devote his acquisitions to his own use and the benefit of man. A college education may be made beneficial, and doubtless is often so; but more frequently it is a source of detriment. Greek and Latin are not knowledge; Mathematics is not knowledge; they are only the means of acquiring it; the foundation stone upon which to erect the superstructure. And the man who has acquired but a superficial knowledge of the classics and mathematics may as truly be called learned, as the newly excavated cellar surrounded by its stone underpinning may be styled a house. Washington was a learned man, yet he studied none but his mother tongue. Franklin was learned yet he never entered

Yankee Restlessness.

The restlessness, the unaccountable disposition of some people to be continually on the move is so often illustrated in our country that we call it a Yankee habit. We are often surprised, though, in fact, nothing of this kind ought now to surprise us, by seeing and hearing of families, well situated in Maine, surrounded by dear friends and domestic comforts, in prosperous circumstances, and enjoying high civil, educational and religious privileges, severing all these connections, and with their possessions concentrated into cash, and with their little ones, starting off on a long and tedious and expensive journey, for some imaginary land of promise in the far off West. Similar examples may be found in all the New England States—Follow this stream of human flesh as it moves its westering way, and we find that while some of the families, having exhausted their means or become fatigued with the journey, or are prostrated with sickness, or have taken the second, sober thought as to the object of their search, locate themselves in Pennsylvania or in Ohio, or farther on, in Illinois, or Indiana or Iowa; but wherever it is, they find there the same disposition to go farther and equal if not greater preparation to push on to some farther off but equally imaginary land of promise. Thus many people, reasonable in all things else, pass over millions and millions of cheap land, fertile beyond a fault and where nature lavishly yields her abundance at the slightest application of labor, seeking—what? A thousand imaginary things, all of which may be resolved into one essential thing, and that is the support of their physical nature with the least toil. In hope of this, they endure more toil and suffer more anxiety and expend more treasure in the search, than almost any where in this bountiful land would suffice to obtain a support for life. In hope of easy living they abandon all the advantages of intellectual cultivation and the blessings of the house of God, and the communion of familiar friends.

Is the thing sought desirable even it could be obtained? Our physical nature is but the outer rough garment of the man. The human body is the house only in which the spirit lives. A little suffices for its healthful support, a very little, and the great law established regarding it is, that the strictest temperance is the truest luxury. How wise this law. The highest physical gratification vouchsafed to those of simple habits, partakers of plain food, and the innocent drink of the gushing fountain. A natural appetite is given suited to this temperance in living, and with it an earnest, restless spirit of inquiry—an awakened—elastic—all working mind. But what inventions have men sought out in attempting to make the physical the chief concern; and alas, how destructive have these inventions proved to the real comfort of the body, and to its prolonged existence. Nor is this the worst of it. The neglect of the spiritual—the crushing, bruising blows that have been inflicted here are most to be lamented.

A recent case is full of forcible instruction respecting this seeking for blessings in the distance instead of cherishing contentment where we are. The world-wide wanderings of the imagination bring blighted and bitter returns.

The mighty valley of the Mississippi beyond the Alleghany mountains has been rapidly peopled with the western flood of men. Farther and farther, has been the disposition to move, until, from no cause but a restless habit, the barrier imposed by the rocky mountains has been scaled by men in weary marches toiling through its defiles with droves of domestic cattle, almost famished and worn out, their substance expended, they have at length arrived in the Oregon Territory. But scarce a breathing space of a season has passed before we hear from this young settlement that the still everlasting and unsatisfied desire to move, is gathering its caravan company, to push ahead to the better home and more fertile fields and pleasanter climate of California. These men had started from Missouri and after passing through Iowa, across the vast Missouri Territory, scaling the Rocky Mountains and searching the sunny vales of Oregon, could not be contented without running down into California and perhaps will end their days by engaging in the pearl fishery. These men, in common with thousands of others have passed over millions and millions of acres of land where nature has given abundance, filling the tree tops like crowded chambers and garrets of fruits, and closely packing the earth, with cellars of rich coal and lead and precious minerals. They need but put forth their hands and pluck, but the use of their legs is more pleasing and off they budge from point to point, seeking, if haply they may find somewhere in the universe a place where they may live!

It is curious to observe the course of these wanderers who go from the north, and of emigrants from Europe and of the great mass of freedmen seeking a settlement. The existence of slavery in a State stands like an impassable barrier to keep out free emigrants. They wind round and fill in and improve the free soil which is soon made to show the contrast between free and slave labor, thus showing a perpetual argument in favor of freedom, an argument without excitement without abuse but full of power.

Several ships outside the bar at New Orleans on the 16th inst. refused to go up to the city on account of the yellow fever.

The lecture this evening before the Lyceum will be delivered by Dr. Ray Superintendent of the Insane Hospital at Augusta, on the mad characters of Shakespeare. The high reputation of Dr. Ray and the novelty of the subject give promise of a highly interesting entertainment for the evening.

Mr. Bugbee has received the November number of The Boys' and Girls' Magazine, a publication of great merit. The "rising generation" had every new number with renewed pleasure.

New Foundland.

A notice from the corporation of Trinity House, London, signed J. Herbert, Secretary, is to the following effect.

"A light house which has been for some time in course of erection at Cape Bonavista, New Foundland, will be in operation from and after the 10th day of September, 1843, from sunset to sunrise.

"This light will revolve at regulated intervals of two minutes, exhibiting alternately a red and white light, and will burn at an elevation of 150 feet above the level of the sea."

Representative to Congress.

Monday, the thirteenth day of November, is appointed for the second trial; and the Whigs cannot do better than to bend all their energies in preparing for it. They certainly have every thing now to encourage them to make a strong effort. The elections, from which we are now hearing by every mail, plainly indicate that, wherever an effort is made the Whigs are as strong as they were in 1840. It is only where they lack spirit to come up to the work like men, that the locos gain victories.

We can never have a better opportunity to prepare for the great contest next year, in which we must route the enemy, than in these elections. Let then, every Whig in these districts fully make up his mind to show what can be done by vigorous and united effort. Recollect that on the day for the second trial, the Whigs in Glorious Old Massachusetts will be engaged in ridding that noble State again, and we hope forever, from the destructive rule of locos totemism.

In this district, although Robinson apparently lacks many votes of an election, yet from the disheartening effect upon the loco loco party of their divisions, and produced by the recent triumphs of Whig principles in other States, we have reason to hope that a vigorous effort will give us success. It is an object worthy trying for, even with less reason to hope for success—Let us take every opportunity until after the election of HENRY CLAY, which is to take place next fall, to show our friends elsewhere that the Wings of Washington, Hancock and Aroostook are alter, unite, and determined to have their full share in that glorious election, which will rid the country of loco totemism, whether it appears in the shape of Van Burenism, Calhounism, or that most indeliberately disgusting form—Tylerism—Eastport Sentinel.

John Quincy Adams at Dedham.

As we noticed on Wednesday, we had the great pleasure of hearing the speech of Mr. Adams to his constituents, on the 24th. The meeting was a most admirable representation of the substantial strength and intelligence of the people of Massachusetts. We never saw a larger collection of so fine looking men, with such ample indications of sobriety, thrift, intelligence and freedom in any place whatever, and they were almost exclusively from the rural districts and villages of that part of the State.

Mr. Adams appeared among them, in all the dignity of a sage, but with all the strength and spirit of the youngest and boldest of the mass. During the forenoon of the day he was about four hours on his feet, nearly without cessation, and spoke two hours and a quarter, reading from manuscripts and documents, without the aid of spectacles, and in a voice, which was readily heard throughout a very large audience. At the close of his speech, he announced, that, with the dawn of the next day, he should leave his home for a journey to Cincinnati, where he is to assist in founding an Observatory.

The only preliminary service was the singing, with admirable effect, by the choir, and the whole congregation, of a spirited ode, entitled "Welcome to John Quincy Adams", which will be found in our columns.

The speech is reported at length in the Boston papers, and we propose to note only two or three points and impressions.

Referring, in the outset, to the new constituency, of which he had become the representative, under the late apportionment, he reminded his hearers, that the delegation of Massachusetts was now curtailed from twelve to ten, and instantly indicated his dissatisfaction with the large ratio, which produced this result, by ascribing it to one of those "compromises, in which the wisdom of the plantation has outwitted the simplicity of the farm", or, as he afterwards phrased it, "in which the Southern overseer, in the distribution of numbers, had shown himself a more skillful accountant than his brother Jonathan of the North." Upon the word "compromise" in this passage, he exhausted the whole power of emphasis, and uttered it with that indescribable tone of sarcastic indignation and disdain, which has now become so familiar in his Congressional displays.

It was upon this sharp key, and high pitch, that he commenced, and there was no flattening from beginning to end. It was a most vehement antislavery argument & invective throughout, touching and enlarging more or less, on the various topics of slave-property representation, the admission of Texas, the right of petition, the imprisonment of black seamen in Southern ports, and others. Upon the ordinary themes of existing party discussion, he did not enlarge, though he had occasion to refer to the President, as "the individual, whom a most untoward, and most melancholy accident had placed in the chair once occupied by George Washington." This was said with a most unmistakable severity of tone and manner, and not less severe and bitterly derisive was his exhibition of the alliance between the Boston Morning Post, and "a man by the name of Duff Green", in alluding to the latter lately addressed to that paper, with sympathizing appeals, by this semi-diplomatic agent of the slavery interest at London.

What was most worthy of observation, however, in the whole, was, that Mr. Adams assailed slavery as an existing, legalized evil, sustained at present by the firm authorities of constitution & law, and not to be removed or overthrown but by orderly and lawful opposition and resistance. There was no breath of favor in the whole discourse to any nullification, evasion, or violation of law, in the cause of liberty which he espoused. There was an evident precaution, on his part, while maintaining the solid position of a free man among patriots, to avoid any connecting of himself or his constituents, with the audacious and destructive dogmas, by which some others, lately, are attempting to assail slavery, but tearing down at the same time all the obligations and safeguards of liberty. Mr. Adams is no member of the Liberty party—no disciple, in his ripe years, of the Buffalo school.

Thus, he showed himself expressly, not to be in favor of immediate emancipation, but read and commented upon certain Resolutions, which he attempted to offer in Congress some five years ago, for a regular amendment of the Constitution providing for the prospective and gradual extinction of slavery throughout the Union.

He renewed the avowal, so often made by him heretofore, that he had not been in favor of the abolition of slavery in the District of Columbia, and should not be, until it could be accomplished without injury to existing legal rights. He preferred, as in the case of the country at large, a method of gradual emancipation.

In referring to the sanction originally given by the constitution to the continuance of slavery, and its privilege conferred upon the owners of that species of property, he explicitly and in terms disavowed any design to charge fraud, crime or hypocrisy upon the framers of the Constitution, and the patriots of that day. He alluded with grateful emphasis to Washington and Franklin as among the founders of the Constitution.

His own strict regard for the letter of the fundamental law, was illustrated by an anecdote of his early senatorial career. When the immunity of the slave trade was about to expire at the end of twenty years from 1787, a law was passed by Congress in January, 1807, to put an end to the trade, as contemplated by the Constitution. He said, that being then a member of the Senate, he voted in the minority, against that law, although it was not to take effect until 1808, because he believed that the letter of the Constitution not only forbade the effect of any such law until 1808, but forbade even an action of Congress to that end, until the full completion of the twenty years.

Mr. Adams referred more than once to the oaths he had taken to support the Constitution, and alluded, in passing, to the binding force of those conventions and compacts, by which government is formed, as controlling, in some cases, the action of the individual citizen, independent of his own moral sense.

We have not selected these particular points of Mr. Adams' speech, because we wish to diminish in any degree the force of his general argument against slavery. But in the rapid and confused agitations of the present day, on the subject of slavery, it is important to listen to the voice of wisdom when it draws the line of distinction between those movements, which are consistent with the principles of law and authority, and those which are destructive and revolutionary, though both may profess to aim at the same general end.

We may mention as an interesting incident of this occasion, that James G. Birney, one of the candidates for the Presidency, was present at this meeting, and heard Mr. Adams. We trust that when he is elected, he will not lose sight of the counsels of his predecessor.

Mr. Adams closed with a finely elaborated passage alluding to his departure, "with the dawn of to-morrow's day" for Cincinnati, and a beautiful eulogium on the science of Astronomy, as the noblest among all those sciences, which the constitution of Massachusetts had made it incumbent upon him and his constituents to encourage and promote.

The Boston Atlas of the 26th, has an extended report of the speech, which is, on the whole, quite accurate, being in part from the manuscript and documents of Mr. Adams himself.

SANDS' SARSAPARILLA.
FOR THE REMOVAL AND PERMANENT CURE OF ALL DISEASES ARISING FROM AN IMPURE STATE OF THE BLOOD, OR HABIT OF THE SYSTEM.

NAMES:
Scrofula, or King's Evil, rheumatism, obstinate cutaneous eruptions, pimples, or pustules on the face, blotches, biles, chronic sore eyes, ring worm or tetter, scald head, enlargement and pain of the bones and joints, stubborn ulcers, syphilitic symptoms, sciatica, or lumbago, and diseases arising from an injudicious use of the mercury, ascites, or dropsy, exposure or imprudence in life. Also, chronic constitutional disorders will be removed by this preparation.

The proprietors submit to the public the following certificate, from a highly respectable source, of a cure made by using their preparation of Sarsaparilla, which cannot but have the effect of placing beyond all doubt the curative powers of the medicine.

NEW YORK, August 3, 1842.

"Messrs. Sands—Gentlemen: Under a feeling sense of gratitude inherent to us all when suddenly relieved from suffering and disease, I now, as an act of justice due to you, and with a view of relieving the afflicted, make known to the world the inestimable benefit I have received from the use of your Sarsaparilla. In the year 1832 I sailed from England in a vessel bound for Quebec, and while on the passage first discovered the disease which afterwards proved to be a sore affliction; and truly I can say, 'from the crown of my head to the sole of my foot there was no soundness in me.' From the time first mentioned down until the present, a period of more than ten years, I have suffered all that human nature was capable of bearing. I have been under the care of the most distinguished physicians both in this country and in England, visited Bath, Cheltenham, Bristol and Gloucester, tried various specifics, among others a large quantity of Swain's Panacea, used sulphur baths, &c. As a last resort I was induced to wrap myself in a tar ointment, keep myself secluded, shunned by all, myself also shunning. I was induced to believe my case a hopeless one.

In August last, by the advice of friends, I went to the New York City Hospital, but was there told that my case was incurable. The disease now enveloped my whole body, rendering me almost helpless; the skin thickened and cracked and blood and matter ran, and life itself became almost a burden. A few weeks since I was induced to use your Sarsaparilla by hearing it so highly recommended, having spent nearly $3,000 without obtaining but little relief. After using it a short time, I found myself better, and now, by using six or eight bottles, costing me less than ten dollars, I am well. Yes, I certify and declare to the world, that after spending near $3,000 in traveling and doctoring, and suffering more than can be told, I was perfectly cured by using your invaluable preparation of Sarsaparilla; and I now recommend it to all similarly afflicted. Those wishing to know further particulars will find me at my residence, No. 27 Warren street, New York, where I shall be happy to communicate any thing in relation to the above cure.

PAUL BURDOCK.
Prepared and sold by A. B. SANDS & CO. Druggists and Chemists, Granite Buildings, 273 Broadway, corner of Chambers street, New York. And for sale by Druggists throughout the United States. Price $1 per bottle, six bottles for $5.

The public are respectfully requested to remember that it is Sands' Sarsaparilla that has and is constantly achieving such remarkable cures of the most difficult class of diseases to which the human frame is subject, and ask for Sands' Sarsaparilla, and take no other.

PATENT MILL WHEELS.

THE Subscriber having for a long time given his attention to the construction and operation of Water Wheels, has finally succeeded in the invention of two kinds of Wheels for which he has received Letters Patent from the Government of the United States.

These Wheels are simple in their construction, cheap and durable, are easily put in operation, and are not liable like most other wheels to get out of order, they are not obstructed by back water, when the head is not diminished thereby; and the same power and speed is obtained, with about one half the quantity of water usually applied to wheels now in general use.

A great number of these Wheels are now in operation and give in all cases entire satisfaction; and for further information respecting them the following gentlemen are referred to, all of whom have some of said wheels in operation: Jacob Drummond, James B. Fiske, Amos Davis and Leonard March, Esqrs., Messrs. Fiske & Norcross, Foster & Gilman, S. P. & H. Strickland, W. T. & H. Peirce & Co. Bangor; Hon. J. S. Little, Portland; Hon. John Otis, Hallowell; F. A. Butman, Esquire, Dixmont; Robert Treat, Gen. A. Peirce, Esquires, Bangor; Daniel Dennett, Esq. Milo; Col. Henry Orne, Milton; Messrs. Fiske & Bridge, Milford; Ira Wadleigh, Esq. Oldtown; Capt. R. Fitz, Dedham; John Black and John M. Hale, Esqrs. Ellsworth; Messrs. A. Campbell & Co. Cherryfield; Daniel Harwood, Esq. Machias; Levi L. Lowell, Calais. The above wheels are manufactured and for sale at the Iron Foundries of Messrs. HINCKLEY & EGERY and FRANKLIN MUZZY & Co. in this city, who are furnished with a great variety of patterns, so that Wheels of any particular description, or adapted to any given head of water, can be furnished at short notice. They are also authorized to dispose of the Patent Right for the same.

FOREIGN LEECHES just received by G. W. LADD.

Dr. D. Jayne's FAMILY MEDICINES.

JAYNE'S EXPECTORANT.

THIS valuable medicine is daily effecting some of the most astonishing and wonderful cures that have ever been known. All who have used it for Asthma, Coughs, Spitting of Blood, Whooping Cough, Croup or Hoarse, Consumption, Chronic Pleurisy, Hoarseness, Pain and Soreness of the Throat, Difficulty of Breathing, and every other disease of the LUNGS and BREAST, can and do attest its efficacy. BRONCHITIS, a disease which is constantly sweeping thousands upon thousands into premature graves, under the mistaken name of CONSUMPTION, is always cured by it. The usual symptoms of this disease, Bronchitis, are Cough, Soreness of the Lungs or Throat, Hoarseness, Difficulty of Breathing, Asthma, Hectic Fever, a Spitting up of Phlegm or Matter, and sometimes Blood. It is an inflammation of the fine skin which lines the inside of the whole of the wind tubes or air vessels, which run through every part of the Lungs. The Expectorant immediately suppresses the Cough, Pain, Inflammation, Fever and Difficulty of Breathing, and produces a free and easy expectoration, and a cure is soon effected.

It cures CROUP, or HIVES of children, in from 15 minutes to an hour's time. It immediately subdues the violence of WHOOPING COUGH, and effects a speedy cure. Hundreds who have been given up by their physicians as incurable with CONSUMPTION, have been restored to perfect health by it. It thus expectorates the commencement of PLEURISY, INFLAMMATION OF THE LUNGS, or in acute RHEUMATISM, in doses sufficiently large, so as to cause a little nausea for some time, going to bed and covering up warm, it will produce perspiration, and subdue these affections at once.

Tonic Vermifuge.

WORMS IN CHILDREN. Of all diseases to which children are exposed, none are so fatal to them as Worms. Unfortunately, children are seldom free from them, and as they initiate the symptoms of almost every other complaint, they often produce alarming effects without being suspected. They are not only a cause of disease themselves, but by their irritation aggravate all other diseases, wandering from one part of the body to another, winding themselves up into large balls, and obstructing the bowels, and frequently the throat, causing convulsions, and too often death. The desired remedy will be found in Dr. JAYNE'S TONIC VERMIFUGE, which will very soon destroy the worms, and invigorate the powers of digestion so as to prevent a return of them. PRICE 50 cents.

JAYNE'S CARMINATIVE BALSAM.

This is one of the most efficient, pleasant and safe compositions ever offered to the public, for the cure of the various derangements of the Stomach and Bowels, and the only article worthy of the least confidence for curing CHOLERA INFANTUM or SUMMER COMPLAINT, and in the above and following diseases, it is really like a charm, viz:

Indigestion, Diarrhoea, or Looseness, Cholera Morbus, Summer Complaint, Cholera Griping Pain, Stomach, Sick and Nervous Headache, Bouts, Vomiting, Spitting up of food after eating, and also where it passes through the body unchanged; Want of Appetite, Rashes, and Indolence to Sleep, Wind in the Stomach and Bowels, Hysterics, Cramp, Nervous Tremors and Twitchings, Sea Sickness, Faintness, Melancholy and Lowness of Spirits, Fretting and Crying of Infants, and for all Bowel Affections, and Nervous Diseases.

PRICE 50 cents.

Hair Tonic.

NO EXCUSE FOR A BALD HEAD. Since the important discovery of Dr. JAYNE'S HAIR TONIC, every one may, if they choose, preserve their hair from falling out, or if already bald, may, with certainty, have their hair restored again. It is a faithful and persevering application of this valuable HAIR TONIC.

Please to read without prejudice the following communication, which, in addition to hundreds of others equally respectable, should remove the doubts of every reasonable person of the uniform and singular efficacy of JAYNE'S HAIR TONIC.

HAMILTON, Feb. 15, 1840.
Dr. D. Jayne—Dear Sir: I cannot say my hair is restored, but I can say that it appears to be in as rapid a process of restoration as could reasonably be expected. I had not finished the first bottle, before a decided change was manifest over the bald part of my head, which was applied. A new growth appeared, and has much like that of an infant, appeared, and has continued to increase and grow, and now it has reached the length of six inches, and is as thick as when I was a child. I have recently commenced upon the third bottle, but I have been a good deal irregular in the use of the Tonic from the first, and from this cause I apprehend the effect is at present less than it otherwise would have been.

I began the use of the Tonic with little or no faith that it would ever be successful on my head, though I felt entire confidence in your statements of what it had done for others; and I was as much surprised as delighted when I saw the effect. You recollect the appearance of my head when in your office. I assure you the hair has been nearly, if not quite, an inch long at the times I have had it cut, on your saw. It was, however, very fine, though quite thick. I am flushed with sanguine hopes of final success, in the diligent use of your Tonic, which, amidst all the hair balm which have been advertised in the papers, I am constrained to believe is what it claims to be, and that it will make the hair grow, and no mistake, at least on some heads.

Jayne's Sanative Pills.

These Pills are an excellent, mild and safe purge at all times, and are exceedingly useful in Dyspepsia and obstructions of the Liver. Persons taking them can eat and drink as usual, without fear of injury; and, what is of infinite advantage, making the use of mercurial preparations, so frequently used in derangements of the stomach and liver, unnecessary.

These Pills may be taken at all times, and are beneficial in nearly all diseases. They have long been a favorite prescription of the proprietor for all other organs of the Liver, Spleen, Kidneys, Uterus and all other organs of the body—Inflammation, Intermittent, Remittent, Bilious, and every other form of Fever—Jaundice and Liver Complaint. For Dyspepsia they are really an invaluable article, gradually changing the vitiated secretions of the stomach, and producing healthy action in this important organ. They are very valuable in diseases of the Skin, and for what is commonly called "impurity of the blood"; also for Female Complaints, Constipation, &c., &c., and in fact every disease where an Aperient, Alterative or Purgative medicine is required.

Four fifths of the numerous and distressing cases of DYSPEPSIA POSITIVELY CAN BE CURED by a persevering use of this valuable SANATIVE.

They are expressly prepared to be used as an Aperient, when purging is necessary, whilst using his Expectorant, and for the removal of obstructions in the Liver, which are often attendant on some of the diseases of the Breast.

FOSTER'S EGYPTIAN BALM OF LIFE.

OR NATURE'S GRAND AND GENIAL AUXILIARY.

A SPECIFIC for Consumption, Great Bodily Debility, Old and firmly Rooted Coughs, Phthisis, Indigestion and Bilious Disorders, Constipation and Diarrhoea, Scrofulic and Scrofulous Affections and Female Complaints.

The Egyptian Balm of Life being an invaluable Family Medicine, should not be neglected in the Spring and Fall by any member of a family, as a Grand Auxiliary to the efforts of nature, in throwing off superfluous humors, generated in the winter and summer months; thus preventing as well as otherwise curing the above distressing maladies, and giving a healthy tone and proper action to all the grand operations of the system.

This Medicine has long sustained an unrivaled character for excellency in the private practice of many eminent practitioners in Europe, yet remaining at the same time undivulged in the possession of the individual of whom it has been potent influence on this side of the Atlantic, and it is recommended to those who may be laboring under any of the diseases for which it is designed as a specific, and also as a preventive of disease, on its first appearance.

For a more particular description of the above medicine we would refer to the envelope accompanying each bottle.

Many valuable certificates might be produced of the benefit received therefrom. Hundreds in the State of Maine, as well as in other States, can testify to its superior efficacy, but the proprietor is willing for the public to judge for themselves by trial.
